Summary

Yeti: The Yeti Fire remains within containment lines. Patrols are continuing, especially along Highway 96, as isolated heat sources (rolling logs, blowing debris) smolder and ignite, causing small uphill runs and visible smoke. Firefighters are watching carefully and actively engaging if there are threats to containment. This is likely to continue into the coming weeks.

This will be the last update from California Interagency Incident Management Team 10. Management of the Yeti and Alex Fires will be transitioned back to the Klamath National Forest tomorrow, August 14, 2022, at 7 a.m.

Alex: The Alex Fire remains in patrol status.

Weather: Weather again is predicted to trend warmer and drier, despite the cool start to the day. Relative humidity remains critically low. Smoke from down river fires may continue to impact the area in the afternoon.

Evacuations and closures: No evacuation orders or warnings are in place due to the Yeti Fire. For information on evacuations, please visit <https://community.zonehaven.com/> To sign up for alerts, please visit <https://www.co.siskiyou.ca.us/emergencyservices/page/codered-emergency-alert>.
