Smoke

Planned burns for yesterday and today have been postponed. We are going to see the same diurnal pattern we have been experiencing. Winds will be a little lighter today. McKenzie is starting the day with MODERATE and will likely increase to see periods USG as the inversion lifts. The light smoke production and lighter westerly winds will lead to smoke being pushed from the fire toward Sisters. Air quality is likely to be good with brief periods of moderate there. The air quality in Redmond, Bend and Madras will remain good today. The air quality in Detroit Lake, Sweet Home, Eugene, and Cottage Grove should remain GOOD. Like yesterday we will likely continue to see GOOD air quality along the Willamette Valley.
