Chilcoot Fire: Size: 1,769 acres | Start Date: August 24, 2023 | Cause: Lightning | Containment: 60%

Yesterday, the fire put up a small smoke column on the southern flank due to dry conditions. Helicopters were able to assist ground crews and drop water over this hot spot throughout the day. In the north, crews identified a hot spot and were able to use hose lays and crews to bring water to it. Today, crews will continue extinguishing hot spots within 100 feet of the fire perimeter and work in coordination with aviation.

Ridge Fire: Size: 219 acres | Start Date: August 25, 2023 | Cause: Lightning | Containment: 95%

The Ridge Fire is now in patrol status with control lines completed around the fire, and minimal heat close to the lines. Yesterday, an Unstaffed Aerial System (UAS)/ Drone was flown over the fire using an infrared camera and no heat has been detected within 200 feet of the control lines. Two engines will remain ready to engage if fire activity increases. Fire personnel are confident in their control lines and that the fire will not spread outside of these lines.

Weather: Today will be slightly cooler than yesterday with highs in the 80s, but still warm and dry. Winds will remain light shifting from east in the morning to northwest in the afternoon. Ridgetops could experience gusts up to 18 mph in the afternoon. There will be haze from other regional fires today.
