California Team 13 will transfer command to the Pacific Northwest Team 12 on October 25th. Firefighters have commenced the withdraw of up to five miles of hose lays and heavy equipment from divisions that have been contained and mopped up. Hot, dry and windy conditions persist today across the fire today. Fire crews continue to mop up and secure areas of concern around the clock to ensure the fire stays within the current containment lines. Aircraft will remain on standby to provide suppression support. Incident personnel are actively collaborating with resource advisors to repair and safeguard areas affected by fire damage. Resource advisors work in conjunction with operations to protect cultural, natural, and other forest resources.

WEATHER:

Today winds from the north to northwest are anticipated, with the potential for locally strong gusts, particularly along ridges and in areas characterized by channeled terrain. Relative humidity, which remained low last night is expected to decrease further today with minimum relative humidity levels projected to be in the mid to upper teens for both today and Friday. Additionally, poor overnight recovery of humidity is expected along slopes and ridges tonight.

EVACUATIONS: Due to improving conditions on the Shoe Fire burning north of Lake Shasta, in cooperation with fire officials, the Shasta County Sheriff's Office is reducing the Evacuation order for zone LKH-1448-B to an Evacuation WARNING.
